FACULTY POSITION AVAILABLE

Submitted by Connor W Crutcher on Fri, 08/16/2019 - 11:17

The Department of Psychology at Stanford University is seeking applicants for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in the department’s Developmental area. Areas of interest include, but are not limited to, cognitive development, personality and social development, and developmental cognitive neuroscience. We welcome applications from researchers whose work connects development with the other areas of our department (Cognitive, Social, Affective Science, and Cognitive Neuroscience). Applicants will be expected to teach courses at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. The Stanford Psychology Department values transparency and openness in science and encourages candidates to provide in their research statement a description of how these values are reflected in their work to date and their future research plans.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae (including bibliography), a brief statement of research interests and teaching (not to exceed 3 pages), copies of at most three scholarly papers, and three letters of reference to https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14206 [1]. For full consideration, materials must be received by 10/1/2019. The term of appointment will begin on 9/1/2020.

Cluster:
Social Sciences

Department:
Department of Psychology

Links
[1] https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14206