Assistant Professor in Anthropology, Communication, Economics, Political Science, or Sociology Department

Submitted by Connor W Crutcher on Fri, 08/16/2019 - 11:25

Stanford University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor faculty position focused on the culture, economics or politics of Muslim societies. We especially welcome applications from scholars who are studying Muslim societies in Iran and Central Asia, as well as South, Southeast and East Asia.

The successful applicant for this position will be appointed in one of the following departments within the School of Humanities and Sciences: Anthropology, Communication, Economics, Political Science, or Sociology. The successful applicant will have teaching and advising responsibilities in their home department and will also be expected to contribute to the Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies? curricular and outreach efforts. Applicants should provide a cover letter including a brief statement of research interests, a curriculum vitae including list of publications, and one recent writing sample. Applicants should arrange to have three letters of reference submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org [1]. For full consideration, materials should be received by October 25, 2019.

Please use the following link to apply: https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/14164 [2]

For Anthropology applicants only: Anthropology will contact candidates at a later date to request that three confidential letters of recommendation be submitted to AcademicJobsOnline.org [1].

Cluster:
Social Sciences

Department:
Department of Anthropology
Department of Communication
Department of Economics
Department of Political Science
Department of Sociology

Links